MESSAGE

Nephrology is a relatively new medical speciality in Singapore. The 3rd Asian-Pacific Congress on Nephrology provides a good opportunity for Singapore doctors to meet with eminent nephrologists and learn recent advances and development in this field.

I congratulate the Singapore Society of Nephrology for organising this Congress and extend a warm welcome to all those visitors to Singapore who are attending the Congress.

I wish you all a very successful meeting.

The XIVth Congress of the International Society of Nephrology will be held in Sydney, Australia, on May 25–29, 1997. This will be the first time that the Congress has crossed the equator into the Southern hemisphere and will be first of a series of international congresses incorporating regional societies. For the XIVth Congress, the regional Asian Pacific Society of Nephrology, the local host Society, the Australian and New Zealand Society of Nephrology, and the International Society of Nephrology will combine to produce a meeting of scientific excellence and with a truly international flavour.

The scientific program of the XIVth International Congress of Nephrology is being formulated by an international committee which has consulted widely in designing an exciting and topical meeting. The scientific programme Committee is headed by D. Harris (Australia & New Zealand Society of Nephrology), K. Kurokawa (Asian Pacific Society of Nephrology), and S. Klahr (International Society of Nephrology).

Visith Sitprija

Congress President, APCN 2003
President, APSN 1997-2000

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to the 9th Asian Pacific Congress of Nephrology. There is a great news that may be of interest to Asian Pacific nephrologists participating in this meeting. We are pleased to inform you that the Organizing Committee will postpone the deadline for early registration to 30 November, 2002. All scientific programs have already been finalized. For more details, please look at our website www.apcn2003.org. We expect about 50 world-renowned, distinguished speakers to come to the Congress.

Our Congress venue, the Pattaya Exhibition and Convention Hall (PEACH) is newly built and equipped with all modern convention facilities. It is located within the area of Royal Cliff Beach and Resort Hotel. This Hotel & Convention Complex stands on a rock cliff overlooking the gulf of Siam. It is an isolated resort outside Pattaya City downtown. Actually, our Congress venue is as far as 3 Kilometers from Pattaya City. The total area of the Complex is as large as 6 soccer stadiums in combined. Thus, geographically, it is quite separated from neighboring crowded tourist community.

Please notice that the Opening Ceremony of the 9th APCN will be graciously presided by Her Royal Highness Princess Galvani Vadhana who is the sister of His Majesty the King. The security protocol during the Opening Ceremony will be nothing but absolute.

When you arrive at the Bangkok International Airport, please locate our 9th APCN representative which will be at the Arrival Hall of both Airport terminals 1 and 2. For safety transport to your hotel in Pattaya, we recommend that you make reservation for airport transfer with TURISMO THAI, our official travel agent. The cost is quite reasonable and affordable. Please avoid unauthorized street taxi.

All authority involved are determined and committed to assure the safety of the Congress and make all participants a pleasant stay in Pattaya.

We are looking forward to seeing you at the 9th APCN in Pattaya in Feb., 2003.

With best regards,

Visith Sitprija, M.D.                  Kriang Tungsanga, M.D.

Melbourne has won the bid to host the International Society of Nephrology’s biennial World Congress of Nephrology (WCN), the premiere event in nephrology education and research.

Led by Professor Peter Kerr, Monash University, and recently appointed Head of Rural Health at Monash University Professor Robyn Langham, a group of

ISN + ANZSN + APSN

Last held in Australia (in Sydney) in 1998, recent congresses have been in Cape Town, Hong Kong and Vancouver with up to 6000 conference participants.

“In choosing Melbourne, the International Society of Nephrology (ISN) cited the city’s excellent facilities, well located hotels and public transport, along with the high profile of Australian nephrology clinical practice, education and research.”

“Australian nephrology has always held a prominent position internationally and this congress will further cement our place,” Professor Kerr said.

“Over the next three years we intend to put together a strong program, not only showcasing nephrology but also Melbourne.”

While a forum to advance physician education and support the development of clinical research into kidney disease, the WCN is also an ideal opportunity to increase public awareness of kidney health.

The Asian Pacific Society of Nephrology aims to promote and encourage the advancement of scientific knowledge and research in all aspects of nephrology, and to promote the exchange and dissemination of this knowledge in the Asian-Pacific area. It has close links with all regional national societies of nephrology, and with the International Society of Nephrology (ISN). The APSN aims to cater specifically for the needs of the Nephrology community throughout the region, especially fostering the development of high quality nephrology in the less well developed countries of the region.

APSN/CSN CME course in APCN
(March 28, 2018 in Beijing, China)

• 1790 young nephrologists, nurses and researchers from Asian Pacific region attended this course, including 31 young nephrologists from LIC or LMIC supported by APSN and CSN.

• Five courses and 50 lectures were presented, among which 3 were in English (renal nursing course, diabetic kidney disease and methodology of renal research) and 2 were in Chinese (basic research in nephrology and clinical nephrology).
80 nephrologists, including young doctors from 6 countries from the Asia Pacific Region attended CME (China, Japan, India, Malaysia, Pakistan and Sri Lanka).

The topics of this course include IgA nephropathy, management of diabetic nephropathy, drug induced kidney injury, biomarkers of AKI, dialysis modality selection, prevention and management of PD-related peritonitis, evaluation and care of living kidney donors and transplantation immunology.
60 physicians and researchers attended this course this year, including two young nephrologists from HIC to encourage exchanges between young nephrologists from various countries and region.

- (Bangladesh, Indonesia, India, Malaysia, Pakistan, Thailand, Sri Lanka, Mongolia, China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Korea and Japan).

Topics of lectures include CKD-MBD, renal anemia and educational, case-based presentations on electrolyte disorder and renal transplantation.
APSN/ANZSN CME course
(September 8-9, 2018 in Sydney, Australia)

- APSN and ANZSN jointly sponsored 13 participants from 9 countries and regions (Pakistan, India, China, Indonesia, Sri Lanka, Malaysia, Japan, Korea and Hong Kong)

- This CME course was held in conjunction with the Nephrology Transplantation Update Course and a broad range of topics were covered in the fields of CKD, ESKD and transplantation, including diabetes and its complication, CKD, AKI, ESRD, genetic and clinical nephrology, kidney transplantation, post kidney transplantation, and update of research.
103 participants attended the Meeting. 23 trainees from 12 countries (Cambodia, Guangxi of China, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Vietnam and Australia).

This CME course was co-organized with the Hong Kong College of Physicians.

Among the speakers are current Presidents of APSN (Philip Li), ASN (Mark Okusa), ERA-EDTA (Carmine Zoccali), CSN (Xueqing Yu) and HKSN (Sydney Tang).
Asian Pacific Clinical Practice Recommendations

• Prof CC Szeto (Hong Kong) has helped the Society to form a group to study the current gaps in the clinical practice guidelines for the Asian Pacific region, notably in the good clinical practice despite resource limitations in the LIC and LMIC in the region.

• The first Asian Pacific Clinical Practice Recommendation, now in progress, will be on “Evaluation and management of diabetic nephropathy” under a group comprising 14 members with good mix between LMIC and HIC countries. The group will be led by Dr Adrian Liew of Singapore.

• APSN will commission an Evidence Review Team to facilitate the work.
